

P, S., Swetha, P. K., & Radha, D. (2018). Analysis and visualization of airport network to strengthen the economy. International Journal of Engineering & Technology, 7(2), 708.
doi:10.14419/ijet.v7i2.9915

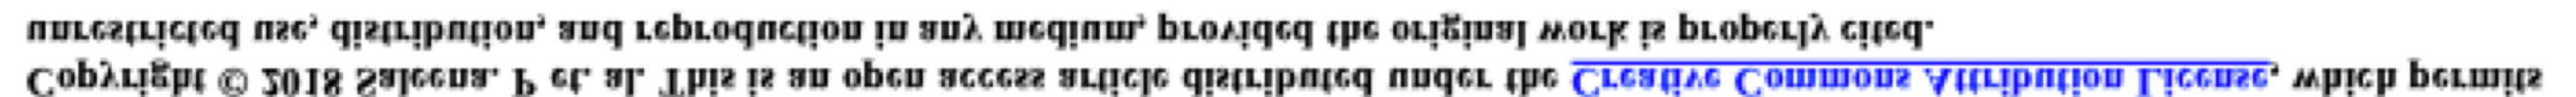

url to share this paper:
sci-hub.se/10.14419/ijet.v7i2.9915

downloaded on 2019-11-15

Sci-Hub is fundraising

learn more →

created by: Alexandra Elbakyan their profile and can share their best pictures to the world which are photo sharing and photo management application. The users create which they don't know the appropriate answers. Flickr is one of the helps the user to create the profile and can post the questions for the etc... [1]. Quora is a question and answer network site which isation and share the information like photos, videos, views, adve- Facebook which builds the connections with the people and organ- muner used social networks that are meant for various purposes are networks connect the people in the world. Some of the modern and cial networks, which are widely used by common people. These Wide Web can be under interaction networks. There are some so- Networks are types of Biological networks. The Internet and World works, Protein Interaction Networks, Metabolic Network, Gene Geo physical networks, Ecological networks and financial net- cial networks, there are some networks, called Biological networks, both visual and mathematical views of relationships. Other than so- as social network analysis [SNA]. The analysis of SNA includes works and analyzing its functionality with graph theory is termed cebook, Pinterest, Twitter, LinkedIn etc. So by taking these net- form of network. Some interesting social networking sites are Fa- using a set of methods and the empirical structure expressed in the relationships between the organizations, groups or individuals by networks have more important roles. Social networks analyze the each other in many aspects. So in day to day life scenario, social present world. As a human, everybody is socially connected with Social network has an important role in the communication in the economy for the country.

istics of the airport and identification of designated airport for better type of analysis also leads to better understanding of the character- work can be analyzed in the way a social network is analyzed. This analyze the airport network like the other networks. The airport net- airport for better economy. There are various tools and ways to an- the country. The analysis of such network results in designating an vide more information. The analysis results fly to figure out the communities and their strategies, these types of analysis help to bring respect to social analysis. It anybody wants to know more about and served about the social network. There are so many advantages with and by analyzing the edges of ties, more information can be obtained between the nodes. Understanding the relationship between the nodes networks consist of nodes and edges which is the connection between with the help of graph theory and its network structure. So social network analysis is the process of analyzing the social struc-

5. FIFTEENTH LEGISLATURE

6fC'''

Betweenness centrality, closeness centrality Eigen vector centrality the network. The various centrality measures are degree centrality, understand the importance or characteristics of people or users in The social networks are analyzed for various centrality measures to one to be connected.

create profiles and connections to each other, and can invite subscribers like posting jobs and job seekers posting their CVs. Users can social network and is designed for business and employment search by watching the videos posted by other users. LinkedIn is a site, users create their profile and share their staff works and can work designed for users who have interest on scrap booking. In this forum, My Place at Scrapbook.com is a hobby focused social network with others on academic projects and research via blogs and the students who are interested in mathematics. In this, students interact. The Math Forum is an educational social network designed for professionals all over the world and can share their materials to other social networks designed for teachers to communicate with other and video call to others. Classroom2.0 is one of the professional